

Life Drawing at Home:

Ceri Richards and the Window Theatre

Ceri Richards: Pennard Window. 1953. Pen, ink and paper

It has been amazing to see so many rainbow pictures in all houses around Swansea. Now we'd like you to tell us what the view from inside is. In the drawing above Ceri Richards uses the window like a stage, where the objects of everyday life are the actors and the landscape beyond the backdrop.

Life Drawing at Home Challenge 1: Draw a picture of your own window stage. You can either draw it as is or theatrically arrange it. When you've finished add in a written description of your view.

Life Drawing at Home Challenge 2: Can you create a 3-D version of your stage?

When you have finished why not post an image of your work in your window including @glynnvivanlearning and #GlynnVivianAtHome #museumsathome and tell us all about it.
